TO JUNK MOST OF DIRIGIBLE

SOME PARTS TO BE SOLD TO HIGHEST BIDDER.

INQUIRY IS UNDER WAY

War Department Expected To Take Concerted Action Against Mitchell —Must Act Alone.

Cambridge, O., Sept. 7.—The Shenandoah, what is left of her, will be junked.

This is the decision reached by the naval board of survey here. The board has asked a number of firms for bids by telegraph. These will be opened Tuesday morning. Commander Jacob Klein announced.

In the meantime, the salvaging of certain parts of the Shenandoah was in progress today.

"The engines and other important parts will be crated and shipped back to Lakehurst for further investigation," Commander Klein said. "The framework will be sold as junk."

Washington, Sept. 7.—With the nation's aviation defense policy at stake, the stage was being set today for the long-expected showdown between the war department and Col. William Mitchell, one-time assistant chief of the army air service.

Belief has crystalized in the war department that the open criticism by Colonel Mitchell of his superiors calls for action.

A conference was to be held today to decide upon a plan for effectively punishing the aviator for his scathing attack on the army and navy following the Shenandoah disaster.

Swampscott, Mass., Sept. 7.—The war department and the war department alone will handle the case of Col. Billy Mitchell, demoted censor of the army air service. There will be no White House intervention, either pro or con.

President Coolidge, it was indicated, has no intention of ejecting himself and the latest controversy the erstwhile general has stirred up by criticizing the air policies of the army and navy department.

It is thought here, however, that should Mitchell be brought to trial, President Coolidge is desirous of public hearing in order that his case may be fairly given to the public.

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 7.—Col. William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service, was "absolutely right in declaring that the Shenandoah disaster was the result of incompetency and criminal neglect," Major Antone Heinan, former Zeppelin pilot and dirigible expert, declared here today.

Besides her parents, the baby leaves a brother, Irvin Joseph.

PARTY CANNOT ADVISE BAKER

WILLIAM F. PHARES MAKES STATEMENT.

CAN DO NOTHING NOW

Governor Has Held Himself Above Organization, State Chairman Says —Victory Not Personal.

"If he (Baker) chooses to deny party responsibility and to assume that his election is a personal matter, there is nothing the members of the party organization can do."

That was the answer given by W. F. Phares, Republican state chairman, to suggestions from party leaders that the state commitee be called together to "advise" Governor Baker in the Dr. Cortez F. Enloe muddle. Mr. Phares, as state chairman, was in active charge of the campaign last fall which resulted in Mr. Baker's election. The efforts of the Republican state organization in the last few weeks of the campaign was centered entirely on "saving" Baker, who was elected by only a few thousand votes.

Mr. Phares in his statement today said:

Unless Governor Baker should radically modify his mental attitude as it concerns the Republican organization and his duties, and prerogatives as governor of this state, I cannot see how any good results could follow a meeting of the Republican state committee, if that body were to be called together to consider what Governor Baker should do with the Dr. Enloe affair.

Governor Baker has proceeded on the theory that his election as governor of this state is a personal matter. He repeatedly has declared his freedom from party organization control, and has indicated considerable resentment when any suggestions have been made as to appointments in his administration. Governor Baker's appointments have been personal appointments, and his appointees have been drawn from his circle of personal, fraternal, and sectarian associates. Some of these appointments have been exceptionally happy; others have been less fortunate. But in no instance has the Republican state organization been consulted, and the organization can neither claim credit for the good appointments that have been made, nor accept responsibility for the bad ones.

That I do not agree with Governor Baker's theory concerning the source of his title to the efice of the state's chief executive may not be important. I am sure Governor Baker considers it of very slight moment. I believe the people of Missouri gave their majority vote to the candidate presented by the Republican party of this state, and that the record of efficiency and economy established by a previous Republican administration was more potent in effecting this choice than was the personal charm, the eloquence, or the admitted ability of the individual who chanced to be the party candidate. Because of this view I believe the Republican organization, chosen as it is by the people at the same election at which the candidates are selected, is properly concerned in the administration of the state government under the men it helped to elect and for whom it stood sponsor at the election.

But the appointive power rests with the governor. If he chooses to deny party responsibility and to assume that his election is a personal matter, there is nothing the members of the party organization can do. It is because of this unfortunate situation that I can see no useful purpose to be effected through a meeting of the Republican state committee.

I would not be harshly critical of Governor Baker. I am mindful of the difficulties that surround the state's chief executive. I am hopeful that he may come to a realization of the grave danger that attends an attempt to carry the whole burden of his administration and that he may call into his counsel that fine body of men and women comprised in the membership of the Republican state committee. Until something of this kind occurs we seem to be obliged to pursue the well-known policy of watchful waiting.

SCHOOL BELL RINGS AGAIN

GRADE ENROLLMENT FIGURES TO BE KNOWN TOMORROW.

ASSEMBLY IS HELD

New Instructors Introduced—Many More Students To Enroll—Football Call Today.

The Maryville public schools and high school opened this morning with a good attendance and the prospects of a great many new enrollments throughout the week. The only thing lacking in the atmosphere that school had begun was the customary rain that usually ushers the school in. School did not hold during the afternoon but will follow the regular routine beginning tomorrow morning.

L. E. Ziegler, superintendent and Miss Dora Smith, supervisor for the grades, will not know until some time tomorrow, figures relative to the grade enrollment. Many students that have not enrolled in high school were taken care of this afternoon in the office of the principal, L. L. St. Clair.

An assembly was held early this morning in high school for necessary announcements and official introduction of "new faces" of the faculty to the student body.

Coach Herbert, who arrived here yesterday, announced that all boys interested in football should report in the high school gymnasium at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Coach Herbert says that there will be no practice until tomorrow evening.

Blazier Being Held On a Booze Charge

Rosco Blazier and Elmer German In Custody Here—Wanted Ly Holt County Authorities.

A charge of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition was filed this afternoon by George Pat Wright, prosecuting attorney, against Rosco Blazier, farmer who livese west of Maryville. Elmer German, who was in the automobile, is being held by the sheriff for Holt County authorities. These men were arrested last night by Frank Burchett, deputy sheriff at Graham, and brought to Maryville about 11 o'clock last night.

Blazier and German ran their car into a ditch yesterday afternoon about five miles southeast of Graham.

German and Blazier are implicated in a deal that took place in Holt county yesterday afternoon, according to the authorities who have secured information today.

The Arch Patterson home, a short distance south of Maitland, was entered sometime after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon while the Pattersons were attending a ball game and several articles stolen, including a ladiese' cloak, feather bed, rugs and table lamp.

The articles were returned to the owner, however, as a man by the name of Wardlow, who lives a short distance over in Andrew County, claims that he bought these articles from Blazier and German yesterday afternoon.

Blazier is being held in the county jail pending a preliminary hearing or giving bond and German is held on order of the Holt county sheriff.

Sheriff Campbell also mentioned this afternoon that persons who indulge in the friendly game of African dominoes on a Sunday afternoon should be on the look-out for the authorities, as the sheriff or some of his deputies might happen to be passing while the game is in progress. He made this remark after telling about a bunch that made a quick dash for cover yesterday afternoon, after being found shooting craps in the corn field west of the Murray nurseries.

NOEL MAKES CONFESSIONS

COLLEGIAN ADMITS SLAYING AND KIDNAPPING.

HE GIVES NO REASONS

Former Harvard Student To Be Arraigned Today On Various Charges—Is Held Without Bail.

Montclair, N. J., Sept. 7.—Harrison Noel, 20-year-old collegian, killed 6 year-old Mary Daly after kidnapping "for no reason at all," according to his signed confession today, and pleaded guilty to a kidnapping charge when arrainged before Police Recorder Henry Trimble.

Noel previously confessed to killing Raymond Pierce, negor taxi driver, to secure Pierce's car in which Noel abducted the little girl.

Noel hung his head and shuffled his feet in court. After he had pleaded, however, the former student of Harvard University suddenly straightened up and pointed his finger at the chief of police, Edward Reilly, and shouted:

"But I want you both to understand that I didn't kill anybody."

He then relapsed into silence. The court held him without bail for a later hearing, explaining the disposition of the charge would depend on the outcome of other charges against him in the case.

Noel then was taken to Cedar Grove to face arraignment on the charge of killing Pierce. Later in the day he is to be arraigned in Mountain View on a charge of slaying Mary.

The charge of assault and battery made against Noel by John Sandine, shot in the head while pursuing the kidnapper, will be made at West Paterson.

Smugglers Work As Policemen Look On

Cases of Liquor Unloaded in What Officers Thought Was Scene for Motion Picture.

Los Angeles, Sept. 7.—Sensational charges that a huge cargo of liquor had been unloaded at a Pacific city in Orange County under police protection by rum runners disguised as motion picture actors was made here today in the office of Col. R. E. Frith, regional prohibition director.

Pretending that they were rehearsing for the screen while city officials and police looked on after being informed that the "stunt would be a great advertising feature for the city," the smugglers carried off in motor cars case after case.

Colonel Frith refused to disclose the name of the town.

The film organization was given the use of power boats, and police had been assigned to keep the curious crowds away from the setting. An elevated setting for the liquor smuggling scene was constructed.

LABOR DAY.

The celebration of the first Monday in September as Labor Day was inaugurated by the Knights of Labor and began with the holding of a parade in New York in 1882 and again in 1884. A resolution introduced by one of the members was passed to hold all their parades on the first Monday of September.

This day is now a legal holiday in all the states and the District of Columbia, Porto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska, because of the efforts of the members of all the labor organizations. The first state law to this effect was passed in Colorado in 1887. New York New Jersey, and Massachusetts were the next to follow this example.

Not only is Labor Day celebrated in the United States and her territories but also in Europe. However, the first of May is observed there. It was begun in 1890 with a demonstration in favor of the eight-hour day.

At first it was feared and opposed by the governments because violence was feared, but now little is heard of Labor Day agitations and it is observed as a holiday not only by the various labor organizations but by labor in general.—Columbia Missourian.

FOR FREEDOM OF EDUCATION

President Charles E. Hughes of the American Bar association, former secretary of state and justice of the supreme court of the United States, sounded a vigorous plea for the broadest measure of freedom for the public schools. He deprecated the tendency of groups to try to regulate the conduct of others through the medium of legislation and cited the various anti evolution activities as a menace to the schools and to religion as well.

He urged the complete divorcement of government and religion and declared that the pleas "that the government should destroy religious error and save the souls of men from perdition" was not only specious but infinitely dangerous, pointing the way back to the horrors of persecution and intolerance from which the world has emerged into the sunlight of universal religious liberty.

President Hughes is unequivocally correct in his contention that religious issues should not be injected into legislation. No religious measurements should be applied to the public schools of the land and the freedom of learning cannot be destroyed, or even jeopardized, without the gravest peril to the fundamental principles of majority representative governments.

Mr. Hughes came near to coining an epigram when he declared that "democracy has its own capacity for tyranny." It is not true in any sense that a majority always is right. It may inflict the gravest wrong in imposing its will upon minorities, though the minority is bound to submit.

This obligation entails upon majorities the corresponding duty of exercising its will with the greatest discretion and the broadest tolerance. Votes decide results, but they do not, perse, constitute right or justify the iniquitous exercise of the power of crass numbers.—Kansas City Journal

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—President Coolidge resents intimations that he's crippling the government departments by forcing them to economize.

He says they're just as efficient as ever and all talk to the contrary is mere propaganda, designed to make it harder for him to cut taxes down.

"That new boy is all the time showin' off; I wish he had moved here when I had my boil."

(Copyright, 1925, Assoc. Eds., Inc.)

Doubtless there's a good deal in this, but if the president thinks the department personnels aren't, in reality, shricking with agony, then he hasn't been listening, that's all.

The army and navy outcry is worst, for the simple reason that they are, of all departments, the most liberally manned. Even on their last appropriations they nearly starved. They didn't need to, however.

The trouble was, they tried to stay too big.

A given sum, which will just support a smallish army or navy comfortably, obviously isn't going to support much larger ones without skimping, just as an income merely adequate for a family of two is altogether inadequate for a family of ten.

The war and navy departments have been worrying along on their present allowances by permitting barracks to fall into decay, doing without ammunition and equipment, abandoning various projects and laying up ships.

And now, according to the president, they've got to stand a fresh cut.

This, practically all the authorities say, means just one thing— they'll have to begin paring down in size. Anybody who ever knew any army or navy men will realize how that thought makes 'em gripe.

Well, this is the age of speed. But payday is just as slow as ever coming around.

Wouldn't it be great if payday were like a collector? You could say, "come back again tomorrow."

Impossible for everyone to make as much as they say they do. If they did they would say more.

Work is about like washing dishes. Thinking about it before you start is the hardest part.

Spend your days doing as you are told to do and you never will be told how to spend them better.

No Insurance When Sons In Golf Tourney

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 7.—The Georgia Casualty Company didn't do enough business Saturday to declare an extra dividend. And probably no body was disappointed because President Will Gunn and chief counsel for the company, R. P. Jones, let business go to rack while they enjoyed a play by play detail of their 'sons' golf battle at Oakmont, Penna.

Judge Gunn and R. P. Jones, fathers respectively of Watts Gunn and Bobby Jones, who fought for the national amateur golf championship at Oakmont, have been business partners for some time.

"There wasn't much policy writing in this office," President Gunn said, "Our boys were playing golf and we just had to watch it."

MARTYRS OF PROGRESS

St. Louis Dentist Pulls Teeth To Tune of "Everybody's Doing It," and Other Songs

Extraction of troublesome molars to the air of "Everybody's Doing It," or the patching up of jangling, anguished nerves to the soothing accompaniment of "My Wild Irish Rose," may be something new under the sun, but take it from Dr. Julius L. Bischof, of St. Louis, the system works.

For, according to Dr. Bischof, a dentist, music not only retains its well-known power to soothe the savage, but it is potent also as a companion to anaesthetics in dental operations, a process which he evolved and has used with remarkable success.

One day Dr. Bischof was called upon to remove a painful grinder from a soldier overseas. The only available spot was a corner in a large hospital ward. As the dentist administered the gas a wheezing phonograph began its syncopation near by.

Thought He Heard Circus.

When the soldier patient came out of the anaesthetic he said, "Doc, blamed if I didn't dream I heard a circus parade go by." And he smiled happily, without a trace of the pain and apprehension common among patients when they emerge from a chair of torture.

"Some idea!" thought the doctor. "When I get into civies again I'm going to try this thing out, and if it works—"

So after the war, Bischof returned to St. Louis with the memory of the accidental discovery and in equipping his office in the Tower Building, he had a specially built-in phonograph concealed in his instrument case. With the instrument he obtained a large list of records, in the selection of which he employed some more psychology.

Music For Every Race.

The result is that, when a patient gets into his chair today, filled with the painful apprehension that always attends a trip to the dentist, Bischof has him or her pretty well figured out. If the patient be German, the last consciousness before the merciful gas overcomes the sense of feeling will be some gem sung in the tongue of the fatherland. If the patient, perchance, is an Irishman, stout and sturdy, his memory will be lulled into pleasant forgetfulness by the strains of "Where the River Shannon Flows." If, as Bischof explained, he had another patient like a chic little French girl, who recently needed a distressing molar removed, he would woo contentment in her last conscious minute with "The Marseillaise."

And so it goes. Tunes for every purpose is his scheme. Even flapper selections are in stock. For bartenders he probably would put on "How Are You Gonna Wet Your Whistle," although he declined to admit whether he had any distinctly pre-Volstead numbers.

Based on Scientific Facts.

There is a distinct scientific argument back of the idea, Dr. Bischof contends. "It is a recognized fact," he said, "that the last thought retained by a patient going under the influence of an anaesthetic will recur again at the return of consciousness.

"It follows, therefore, that if thoughts of pain and dread are uppermost in the mind, upon awakening the patient, regardless of the success of the operation, will be in unpleasant humor, a condition that retards the quick return to normalcy and is decidedly injurious.

"But, if, on the other hand, pleasant thoughts can be introduced, the patient awakens bright, happy and smiling. That is where the music has really as important a part in the scheme as the actual drugs used in the operation."

Woos to Slumber.

The music, which has been placed on the machine ready for instant use, is introduced, Dr. Bischof declared, just at the point when the patient begins to succumb to the anaesthetic. In this period of semi-consciousness, the mind retains its last impressions, he declared. In this state the patient is receptive, he said, and will beat time to a band or dance selection with the fingers as pleasant unconsciousness comes to efface thoughts of pain and dread.

"Recently a man came out of it and smilingly remarked that he thought he heard a band going by," Dr. Bischof said. "In that case, of course, I used a band selection. In another case, I used an Italian folk song for a patient of that nationality, and when he awakened he told me that he dreamed he had made a trip home.

"Now, this is nothing new—psychology such as this is recognized. Only my adaption of it is new."

Dr. Bischof served in the A. E. F. with various outfits, and at one time was dental surgeon on the staff of Gen. Pershing at Chaumont. He has seen service with the army also in China, Japan, Hawaii and the Philippines. He is a member of the Fred W. Stockham post of the American Legion and is historian of the organization.

Delegations Request Court for Bridges

With Bridge Fund Limited County Judges Find Themselves Handicapped in More Bridge Work.

The county court has its troubles.

Between breaths this morning the county judges heard the requests of three delegations for three concrete bridges and the buying of land to open a road. And the judges are doing their best to pay off some back warrants that run into five figures and still maintain the bridges in the county.

A delegation from Jackson township appeared and requested that the court order the construction of a bridge over a draw on the road four and a half miles east of Ravenwood. Another delegation, from White Cloud, told the court of the necessity of the construction of two concrete culverts on the road east of Swan Chapel, and still another delegation, from Polk township, was requesting the court to reconsider the decision on the opening of a road through the Williams' property four and a half miles south of Maryville. About a year ago the court acted on a petition to open a road through this land if the petitioners would pay the damages.

There is no doubt that the present road over which the residents in this vicinity have to use to get to Arkoe is dangerous but the court could not see how it was able financially to pay the damages for a new road that would run north and south and connect up with a road leading to Arkoe.

Another delegation was scheduled to appear before the court at 2 o'clock this afternoon on road and bridge matters. As the county court is meeting as a board of equalization no action can be taken on any matters except on equalizing valuations on merchants' stock.

The court will meet tomorrow to draw the list of jurors and alternates for the October term of circuit court and to pass on bills.

Malaria Germs Aid In Curing Mental Trouble

(By FREDERICK KUH)
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, Sept. 7.—Locomotor ataxia, dread ailment which hampers the function of locomotion, can be cured by malaria bacilli, according to the Munich Medical Weekly.

This recognized journal reports that Dr. Bering injected bacilli into twenty-three persons suffering from locomotor ataxia and cured six of these, and practically cured thirteen others.

In the remaining cases the progress of the malady was halted.

Experiments on the continent and in England recently have shown that malaria germs are efficacious in curing some forms of mental trouble. The malaria germ creates a fever condition which reacts on the mental trouble and often cures it.

No Car meets the Better BUICK in value per dollar and here's Why

THE Better Buick steps far ahead of all previous standards of motor car performance.

75 Horsepower!
The Master Valve-in-Head engine now delivers 75 and more horsepower. And there is 60 and more in the Standard models.

Triple-Sealed* Engine!
Three new seals for the famous Buick sealed chassis result in decidedly longer engine life, noticeably lower operating costs—an Air Cleaner—a Gasoline Filter—an Oil Filter protect the engine.

4 and 2 Door Sedans!
Real sedans with Fisher Bodies. Upholstery and fittings according to Buick's luxurious standards. Real sedans . . . at "coach prices."

Duotone in Duco!
New beauty! The latest, smartest, most striking color and finish combinations for motor cars.

Safe* Night Driving!
The Better Buick introduces the Controllable Beam Headlight. It furnishes, constantly, a flood of soft, searching light on the roadway without glare in the eyes of the approaching driver, and without dimming.

Light Pedal Clutch!
Buick's new saw tooth, ten-plate multiple disc clutch has 212 square inches of driving surface as against 30 to 80 inches in the average single-plate type.

Lower Prices!
And while Buick has raised Buick quality and performance even higher than before, it also has been able to make substantial reductions in prices.

* * *

Better acquaintance with the many 1926 advancements and improvements in the Better Buick will convince you that:

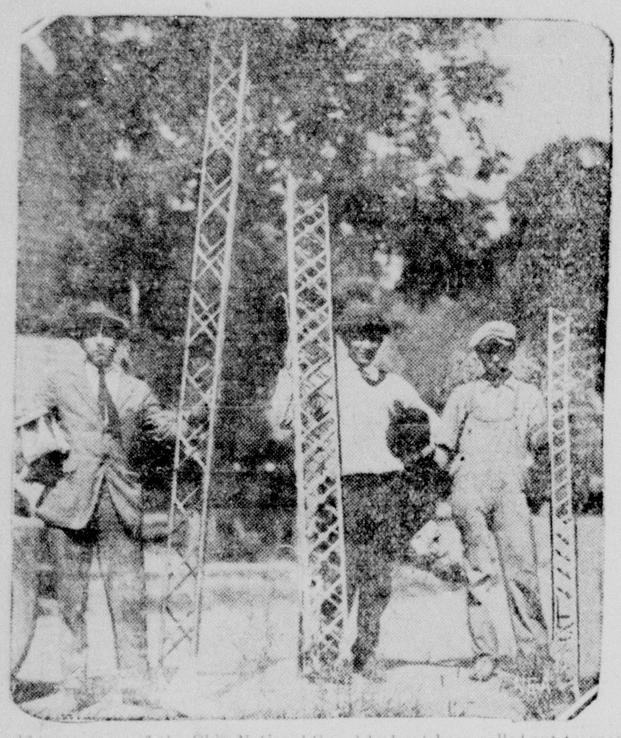
Curio Hunters Loot Blimp Wreck



If a company of the Ohio National Guard had not been called out to guard the wreckage of the Shenandoah, the navy department would have had little debris to remove. A few hours after the crash, people came by the thousands to view the wreckage. Souvenir hunters at once started to pick up everything that could be removed, including parts of radio sets, pieces of the silver canvas, furniture and utensils aboard the ship and even big girders. Here are three men taking away all they can carry.

Schedule for Outdoor League Not Finished

Committee Will Meet Again Saturday To Complete Its Work—September 17 Date First Games.

The scheduling committee comprised of J. N. Geyer, Pickering; A. M. Burch, Parnell; and V. G. Robertson, Quitman, who met Saturday afternoon to arrange a schedule of games for the members of the Nodaway County Outdoor Basketball League, decided on Friday, September 17, as the date for the first of a series of games to be played.

On account of the odd number of the teams in the league the committee did not finish the schedule but adjourned to meet this coming Saturday and complete its work. If possible, a schedule of six games will be arranged for each team in the League to be played before the tournament.

Umpires Exhausted After Game Sunday

St. Mary's Nine Defeats B Squares 24 to 17 in Batting Practice on Old Mink Diamond.

The B Square nine and the aggregation of the St. Mary's Church vied with each other yesterday to see which side could run their men around the bases in the fastest time. It took so long to decide which team was winner, close to three hours, that when the scores were checked up on an adding machine the Church nine was found to have 24 runs with the B Squares only seven behind.

Bud French, who called balls and strikes and counted the forty-one men as they crossed the rubber on the old Mink diamond south of the Golf links that he was more exhausted at the end of the ninth inning than the players. Pete Kegin, base umpire, repeatedly called for assistance, but he was refused aid. The mystery is how the base runners were able to endure the grueling track meet under the hot weather conditions.

Home runs were as common as singles in this contest yesterday and the score keeper was unable to keep an accurate check of hits, errors and strike-outs, and did not have room on his book to write in the names of all the relief pitchers.

The score by innings:

B Square .....0 0 1 1 2 2 7 1 3—17
St. Mary's .....5 3 5 0 1 5 2 3 x—24

St. Mary's line-up: Busby, rf; Stevens, cf; Auer, 1b; Joe Thompson, lf; Zimmerman, c; Linneman, ss; M. Wagner, 3b; Riley, 2b; J. Wagner, p.

Style Rules Coats Here!

Supreme Quality and Value, Too!

The first requisite of a Winter Coat is—"Is this stylish?" If it isn't, our buyers don't consider it. Next, they ask, "Is the quality good?" If that passes, they then demand that the price be reasonable.

When you buy a Coat here, you get those three necessary characteristics, Style, Quality, and Value!

Our styles this Fall emphasize the flare and fur trimming. The fitch dyed furs have predominated. When you examine the less noticeable features of our coats—the linings, stitchings, buttons, etc., you will find them all eminently satisfactory.

Look here for your new Winter Coat! Priced,

$14.75 to $39.75

A GROCER'S RESPONSIBILITY

Did you ever stop to think what a responsibility the grocer has? No other merchant contributes equally to the well-being of the community.

If you buy a new dress, or a screen door, or a piece of furniture, you want to be sure that it will look good, and last. Outside of that there is no other consideration. If it isn't good value, you are merely dissatisfied with your purchase, but no other particular evil accrues.

But when you go to your grocer's to buy food, it is entirely different. Then, you not only want food that TASTES GOOD, but food that is healthful and body-building. Poor, sub-standard foods are a menace to health and even life.

In our business, we try to give our customers the very best quality of food. We believe that by strict adherence to the policy "Quality First and Always," we satisfy our customers and build prestige for ourselves.

PICTURES TO STATE CAPITOL

17 PHOTOGRAPHS SENT FOR EXHIBIT THERE.

PLACED IN ROTUNDA

George A. Pickens Says They Are Best Of Any Received So Far—Show County's Resources.

Seventeen colored photographs, prepared for the Chamber of Commerce by F. R. Marcell, have recently been sent to Jefferson City for display as a Nodaway County exhibit in the new state capitol building.

The photographs are scenes of Nodaway County life and were taken on farms and at various towns in the county.

This is part of a program inaugurated by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce to advertise the benefits and resources of the county and show the versatility of the county in this section of Missouri. The seventeen pictures are beautifully colored and labeled.

George A. Pickeas, secretary of the Missouri Association, will see that the pictures are properly placed in the rotunda of the capitol. In a letter to the Chamber of Commerce here, Mr. Pickens says:

"The package of photographs came this morning and they are certainly hum-dingers. I think I can safely say that they are the best collection I have seen from any county, and I will certainly see that they get a good place in the Capital rotunda.

"I wish you might have had this display of pictures at the State Fair. They would have created a real sensation.

"Aside from Springfield and Green County, there are no other towns that have taken the trouble to put out such splendid colored reproductions of what they have to be proud of.

"With best wishes for the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, I am, Yours for a greater Missouri through community and state co-operation."
